DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 2 is objected to because of the following informalities: line 3, "of" should be "off". Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States;

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by USP 5,814,114 (Stueble).

Stueble discloses an airborne filter comprising a housing (24), a filter member (14) disposed within the housing (24) and means for sweeping (32) said filter member (14). Sweeping member (32) being in the form of a flap. The edge of the sweeping member (32) constitutes a blade. The housing (24) is fluidly connected to ducts (38a,38b) which are connected to a vacuum pump (34). The filter further comprises a horizontal duct (not numbered) which connects the ducts (38a,38b). This is considered to constitute an "upper panel".

Further, a lower frame member of the housing is considered to constitute a "bottom bar". The second filter member (14) from the bottom having a rotating shaft (30) is considered to read on claim 4.

Claims 1,10,11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US 2005/0000055 to Cheng (Cheng).

Cheng discloses an improved filter (20) to be used with a prior art device shown in figure 1. The device comprises a filter housing (21), a filter member (22) and means for sweeping (332) the filter member (22). The filter tank is to be used in place of the tank (16) in figure 1 which further comprises a duct (14) connected to a suction blower (12). The filter tank (20) is to sit above filter bag (15).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USP 5,814,114 (Stueble).

In Stueble the flap (32) has an arcuate surface for attachment to the round shaft (30). Stueble does not disclose the shaped surface defined in claim 6.

In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966) (The court held that the configuration of the claimed disposable plastic nursing container was a matter of choice which a person of ordinary skill in the art would have found obvious absent persuasive evidence that the particular configuration of the claimed container was significant.). In the absence of persuasive evidence that the shape of the surface of the blade which is attached to the rod is significant, the claimed shape is considered to be an obvious choice in view of Stueble.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5,8, and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).
